Waveland leaders seeking one percent sales tax hike

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Waveland Board of Aldermen Tuesday night agreed to seek an additional one percent sales tax to pay a more than $500,000 judgement against the city or undertake city improvements and pay attorney fees if the decision is altered in a higher court.
In addition, the aldermen voted to appeal the recent U.S. District Court Southern District of Mississippi ruling by Magistrate John R. Countiss of the Jackson Division.
The aldermen are seeking a local and private bill through the State Legislature to temporarily increase retail sales taxes in the city to seven percent, as recommended by Mayor John Longo.

Longo said at the Tuesday night meeting that he hopes to impose the tax beginning next month to take advantage of an expected increase of trade resulting from New Orleans World's Fair tourists buying in Waveland.
He speculated the judgement amount could be collected in 12 to 16 months at which time the one percent additional tax would be removed.

Countiss states in a seven-page opinion that Waveland is liable to Travelers Indemnity Co. for $400,507 plus legal interest for an approximate 10-year period.
The lawsuit was filed against the city several years ago by Travelers after Waveland refused to pay a 10 percent retainer fee in a $2.3 million citywide sewerage installation project, the judge's opinion states.

Travelers took over the project because it wrote both payment and performance bonds for the sewerage installation work involving three companies which apparently went out of business while the project was underway, the court document indicates.

The indemnity company then hired another firm to complete the project, Countiss writes.
Longo said at the Tuesday night meeting that Travelers 'walked off the job' and failed to install sewerage on several streets.

Lucien Gex, city attorney, reported Wednesday that Travelers' failed to complete a list of deficiencies cited in a 'punch list' which cited a number of leaks in the system.

John B. Clark of Daniel, Coker, Horton and Bell Law Firm in Jackson, which represents Travelers in this case, declined to comment regarding Longo's statements or the indemnity company's grounds for its case.

However, he did say, "Obviously we didn't agree with Waveland and the judge agreed."

Clark referred this newspaper to the judge's opinion which states that Travelers' substantially completed the contract.

The opinion also indicates the company was not liable for certain portions of the project which were completed prior to the Travelers take-over.

Items which the city demanded to be repaired during the one year warranty period were often maintenance rather than warranty items. Evidence indicated that approximately 40 percent of such work, which was billed to Travelers in the amount of $179,396, should have been borne by the city as maintenance costs, Countiss writes.

Longo said he did not know if it is possible for the city to now seek the tax increase while at the same time appeal the court ruling.

He also did not know if the funds could be utilized for anything other than payment of the judgement.

Longo said earlier in the meeting if the judgement is overturned or amount is reduced by the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals that the funds could be used to pay some $30,000 in attorney fees owed to the city attorney and Attorney Walter Gex of Bay St. Louis in the case, pave streets or help defray the cost of pumping in more sand for the city's eroding beach.

Lucien Gex stated, "It depends on what the legislature wants to go along with."

He explained his proposed legislation would have to specify its purpose and exactly what the funds could be used for.

The city attorney said he had expected the city to be able to pay the judgement out of its own funds, but the judge's opinion states that the city is liable for the judgement.

the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission to represent the city.
The mayor said he had not yet received a letter from Gov. Bill Allain requesting the city's recommendation.
Allain had first appointed Nancy Gex, wife of Lucien Gex, to represent the city. But after it was revealed that the governor apparently violated state law by not first seeking the local recommendation, he withdrew his decision.

Regarding a proposed new city cemetery area, Longo reported the city purchased some six acres on Gulfside Drive for $25,000 from Joe Buccola of Bay St. Louis to build the new facility.

Bay gambling raid nets two arrests

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Two persons were arrested in a gambling raid jointly conducted in Bay St. Louis by area law enforcement agencies Wednesday afternoon, according to Ronald Peterson, Hancock County sheriff.

Peterson said, "The raid was conducted after a complaint was received by our department on an abandoned building located at 1143 Old Spanish Trail at Turner Street. The building was formerly used as a game room."

James A. Magnusen Jr., 38, Rt. 1, Lot 41, Long Beach, and Charles Kirschenheuter, 32, 1715 44th Ave., Gulfport were both arrested and charged with gambling.

Magnusen, whose bond was set at $500, was also charged with operating a gambling establishment. A $100 bond was set for Kirschenheuter, Peterson stated.

Peterson continued, "The charges against the two are for misdemeanors, and other arrests could be pending in the operation."

Items confiscated included poker chips, numerous types of horse racing forms, professional football pools, five decks of cards, four sets of dice, telephone, large poker table, other gambling paraphernalia, and a Smith and Wesson .38 caliber revolver, Peterson said.

The raid was conducted by Peterson, Alvin Ladner, and Delbert Seay, Hancock investigators; Murray Ladner, and Joe Pica, Bay St. Louis investigators; Robert (Poochy) Tarravouille, and Sandra (Sam) Henley, Waveland investigators; and Lt. T.P. Naylor, criminal investigator, State of Mississippi Department of Public Safety.

This was the first gambling only raid conducted in Hancock County since Ceno Caranna, district attorney, recently issued a crackdown on gambling activities on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Peterson stated, "We will not tolerate gambling activities in the county, and this means established residents as well as outsiders."

School trustees okay wastewater system tests

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
The Hancock County School District trustees will permit soil borings on school district property to determine whether the land could be used for a site for Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District's proposed spray irrigation sewage treatment system.

The property in question is Section 16 land just north of I-10 about two miles west of Hwy. 603 near Stennis International Airport.

At Monday night's school board meeting Superintendent Terrell Randolph read a letter from Ray Eaton of Lewis-Eaton Partnership regarding a possible lease of school land for the irrigation project.

The letter stated that the wastewater district has not decided to proceed with this type of project but said it was important that one or two specific sites be discussed at a public hearing March 27.

"The main objective is to secure a site as close as possible to the Waveland/Bay St. Louis area...in the general vicinity of other unincorporated areas which could utilize this site in the future."

Eaton's letter noted that about 700 acres of land will be needed in order to receive a two inch coverage per week.

"This amount of acreage allows for field areas, road development, related facilities and a certain amount of acreage for unusable land."

"The Site Specific Study to be developed will determine the amount of acreage needed, based on soil borings and other information that must be compiled."

"...if this study shows the site in question cannot receive two inches per week, then additional acreage...will be needed. If the study shows the site in question can receive more than two inches per week, then less acreage will be needed."

"That is why we would in your case contact adjacent property owners in addition to your 640-acre section so additional land as needed could be made available," the letter said.

Eaton's letter said if the board decided to participate, appraisals would be made and, based on the appraisals, a five to ten percent annual fee would be developed.

The wastewater district is looking for a 25-year lease with at least another 25-year renewable option, Eaton wrote.

The school board will not have to make any final decisions as to the

School board seeks to pass dump responsibility

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Hancock County School District Superintendent Terrell Randolph told the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday that if it wants to retain the open dump at Pearlinton located on school district Section 16 property, it will have to ask for a lease.

The dump has been operating under the auspices of the board of supervisors, but as landowner the school district faces a penalty for non-compliance with Environmental Protection Agency standards.

In 1981 the Bureau of Pollution Control gave notice that the dump, along with dumps at Necaise Crossing and Standard, should be closed.

A plan to close the Pearlinton dump was established by the school district but was never implemented.

Last month the school trustees agreed that Randolph should prepare a proposed agreement to lease the land to the supervisors for an amount to be determined after a survey and appraisal was conducted.

But Randolph told the supervisors Monday he wanted them to make up plication to the school board for a lease.

"We cannot give you the land without a lease," he said.

"We are prohibited by law from donating Section 16 land."

"The community is saying it's an injustice on our part to ask for a lease. I want to make it clear we're just abiding by the law."

Randolph said an appraisal would cost the school district more than it would get for the land under a lease agreement in a year and a half.

"If you want to lease it, I'd like to have a motion or application to that effect."

The school board wants the burden to be on the supervisors for maintaining the dump, Randolph said.

"If you don't want a lease, I'm going to sit back and not do a thing about it," he said.

"The school board wants to wash their hands of it unless we get a lease."

The supervisors took no action Monday on Randolph's request.

Also Monday, Delmer Wilcox, representing the Tri-State Rapid Rail

Transit Commission, invited the supervisors to participate in a special excursion of the World's Fair Amtrak train, the Gulf Coast Limited, from Mobile to New Orleans on April 28.

The commuter train is scheduled to begin regular operations April 29.

Wilcox said the governors, U.S. senators and U.S. congressmen of the three participating states—Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana—have been invited to participate in the April 28 publicity event, along with supervisors from the counties the train travels through.

The special excursion train is scheduled to leave Mobile at 9 a.m. Saturday morning.

Wilcox said he expects some 600 dignitaries to be aboard the excursion trip.

"We hope this train is the beginning of something of a permanent status, not just for the World's Fair," he said.

In another matter, Auxiliary Deputy Lee Klein reported that more than $8,000 has been raised to purchase a new vehicle for the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and that "money is still coming in."

He also said that about 15 persons serving "weekend time" with the sheriff's department are working on various jobs around the county—cutting grass, painting, picking up trash.

Auxiliary personnel are supervising the work, Klein said, at a cost of $68 per weekend, or $34 per man for two deputies.

The weekend prisoners, Klein said, will be wearing special vests so that they can be readily identified.

Also Monday, the supervisors adopted a resolution requesting Mason Chamberlain, Inc. to give Hancock County residents "more consideration" in hiring practices at the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant.

Citing a recent meeting of Mason Chamberlain officials with the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Board President A.A. (Dolph) Keller noted that Hancock County has fewer employees at the plant than any of the surrounding counties.

"We're last on the list," he said.

Hancock district spellers compete today, Friday

By NAN P. EHRBRIGHT

Top spellers from Hancock County School District will vie today and tomorrow for selection as participants in the second annual Gulf Coast Spelling Bee.

The district spelling contest will be held at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlinton.

First through fourth graders will compete Thursday from 9:45 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Fifth through eighth graders will compete Friday during the same time period.

Chapter I Coordinator Helen Mestayer, contest chairman, said spelling contests have already taken place in each school to select the top two spellers for each grade level of each individual school.

This week, two contestants from each grade level will be chosen for the Gulf Coast contest, which will be held May 3 and 4 at the Bay St. Louis Junior High School auditorium.

The Gulf Coast Spelling Bee will be sponsored by Hancock County School District and Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District.

Mestayer said the spellers will operate under a strict set of contest rules.

RULES

—No official spelling lists will be circulated.

—Webster's International Dictionary, Second Edition, Unabridged, will be the final authority for selecting, spelling and pronouncing words.

—Regional championship finals will be an oral competition with elimination on a 'miss/out' basis.

—The pronouncer will give a word, a sentence using the word and repronounce the word. Contestants may request a definition.

—Contestants will spell or be disqualified 15 seconds after total clarification. Judges may disqualify contestants who ignore a request to start spelling. The word must be spelled within 30 seconds after giving the first letter.

—After the pronouncer gives a word, contestants may or may not pronounce the word before or after spelling it.

—Having started to spell a word, contestants may stop and start over, retracing the spelling from the beginning, but in the retracing there can be no change of letters and their sequence from those first pronounced. If letters and their sequence are changed in the respelling, the speller will be disqualified.

—Correct punctuation of contest words must be stated by the contestant. If a word requires capitalization, a hyphen, apostrophe or period, these facts must be stated by the contestant.

—Upon missing the spelling of a word, the contestant immediately drops out of the contest. The pronouncer will correctly spell the missed word. The next word on the pronouncer's list is given to the next contestant.

—When the contestants are reduced to two, the elimination procedure changes. At that point, when one contestant misspells a word, the other contestant shall be given an opportunity to spell that same word. If the second contestant spells that word correctly, plus the next word on the list, the second contestant shall be declared the champion.

—If one of the last two spellers misses and the other, after correcting the error, misspells the new word submitted, the misspelled new word shall be referred to the first speller. If the first speller succeeds in correcting the error and correctly spells the next word on the list, he shall be declared the champion.

If both spellers misspell the same word, both shall continue in the contest, the one who first misspelled the word shall be given a new word to spell, and the contest shall continue.

—Any question relating to the spelling of a word shall be referred in writing to the judges immediately.

—The judges are in complete control of the spelling bee. Their decision shall be final on all questions. Decisions by the judges will be documented in writing. The judges will verbally declare word 'correct' or 'incorrect'.

Sacred harp singing slated

It's old-time, like homemade ice cream, dinner on the grounds and quilting bees.

Sacred harp singing, spiritual music which flourished in the 19th century rural South, has survived into the 20th century.

The City of Oxford and the Center for Study of Southern Culture at The University of Mississippi are helping to preserve this distinctive music with the fourth annual Oxford Sacred Harp Singing March 11 from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., in the courtroom on the second floor of City Hall.

The public is invited to attend and participate with singers from Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi.

Dr. George Boswell, professor of English at Ole Miss, is chairman of the event. Dr. Warren Steel, assistant professor of music and southern studies at the University, is vice-chairman.

Sacred harp singers, Dr. Steel said, are never accompanied by instruments.

"Harp, like lyres, have been symbolic of music through the ages, hence the name," he said. "The sacred harp tradition relies on one songbook, 'The Sacred Harp,' which has been in continuous use since 1844."

Sacred harp singings were once the biggest events of the year in many Southern communities, he said. Country churches would hold all-day singings for homecomings and reunions, and large singing conventions would meet annually at schools and county courthouses.

Quotables by Cuevas

The weather appeared not too interested in cooperating with Hancock County's final Mardi Gras parade on Tuesday.

It looked like it was going to rain any minute throughout the day.

It seemed that when Russell Elliott, king of Triton waved his scepter, conditions improved and by the time the parade was over, sun was shining.

It was rather cool in addition to the threats of rain, yet there appeared to be a large crowd of well wishers lining the five mile parade route.

Everyone involved with Triton should be commended for giving spectators a beautiful parade.

Too bad the Krewe of Kids had to cancel their parade on Monday because of the heavy rains, we are hoping they will have nothing but sunshine next year.

The Krewe of Real People's parade improves each year with more participants and spectators.

Many folks at the big parade on Tuesday collected their trash and took it home with them after the Triton parade.

This is being a good citizen, and we thank each person who did a cleanup after the celebration.

We had mentioned to us early Wednesday morning how a person could tell where the 'slobs' watched the parade.

We had to make a trip down the Highway and were really impressed with the many clean areas and the few places the 'slobs' watched the parade from contained empty cans, plastic jugs, and all types of debris.

They all know who they are.

March of Dimes program helps reading habits

The March of Dimes Reading Champions, a program for students in grades one through six, began in Bay St. Louis schools Feb. 27.

The Reading Champions provides a way for children in area schools to help the March of Dimes raise funds for the prevention of birth defects, America's number one child health problem.

Many children are reading less these days, but when they take part in the Reading Champions, each child reads an average of 12 books in one month, just for pleasure.

The results are doubly satisfying. Students improve their reading skills while enjoying books of their own choice other than textbooks, and are gratified to know that they are helping other less fortunate children.

Participating children sign up sponsors among parents, friends and neighbors, who pledge money to the March of Dimes for each book the youngsters read.

A variety of awards and honors will be given to each student who participates in the Reading Champions. Children will be given Olympic type medals—Gold, Silver and Bronze—based upon the number of books they read.

Please be generous when a student asks you to support their efforts.

More money is imperative for school construction

WHERE ARE OUR PRIORITIES?

Mississippi's school buildings, literally, are falling in around our children, according to Dr. Frank Lowell.

Lovell, director of the state's Education Finance Commission, the agency responsible for state oversight of public school construction, has been saying this for at least two years now.

Lovell says more money must be made available if we are to construct, repair and maintain facilities adequate for our children's educations.

The Mississippi Economic Council, aware of the growing construction needs across the state's education system, has called for more money for school buildings.

And MEC has called for a relaxing of requirements for approval of school bond issues as a means of encouraging greater local participation in the school construction process.

Meanwhile, where are our lawmakers spending their time—and taxpayers' money?

This week ten members of the House County Affairs Committee voted to permit county supervisors to continue to squander tax dollars through the wasteful and extravagant system of operating five road districts per county. They voted against a mandatory county unit bill which would have eliminated much of the waste of these tax dollars.

MEC, in fact, published a report earlier this year which indicated that county units statewide would save taxpayers a minimum of $27 million per year—money which could have gone to school construction and maintenance.

The time has come to ask legislators and county officials—where are your priorities?

SUDDEN INFANT DEATH SYNDROME

Q: What are the causes of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome? Can it be prevented?

A: Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS)—also known as crib death—is unexpected, sudden death of any infant on which an autopsy fails to determine a definite cause of death. It's the leading cause of death in this country of infants between one month and one year old.

Medical science does not yet know its cause, or whether it results from one or several diseases. One theory is that abnormalities in a baby's breathing pattern play a major role. However, a baby with abnormal breathing is not necessarily at risk for SIDS. Other factors may be involved as well, such as environment or genetic factors.

Until recently, it was thought that victims of SIDS were completely normal before their deaths. However, during the last decade, increasing evidence has suggested that this may not be true. Babies considered at risk for Sudden Infant Death Syndrome are those who have had one or more siblings die of SIDS, infants born to drug-addicted mothers, premature babies, infants who are small for their age, and twins.

A baby who has been saved from probable death by SIDS also is considered at higher risk.

The incidence of SIDS in this country is one to two cases per 1,000 infants. Prime victims are infants between one and three months. SIDS occurs more often in fall and winter and usually strikes an infant while it sleeps. Fifty to 80 percent of these deaths occur between midnight and six a.m.

Nearly one half of all SIDS victims have had a mild cold at the time of their deaths. However, doctors believe the infection triggers SIDS rather than causes it.

Normal infants may have brief periods during sleep—usually less than 10 seconds—when they stop breathing. This is called periodic breathing.

Research has shown that normal infants have fewer periods of not breathing when they have a cold, while infants who have experienced a near-miss incident of SIDS have more periods. These more frequent, longer periods of not breathing are called apnea.

However, sleep studies of infants are still considered an investigational tool. In other words, what constitutes normal and abnormal patterns of breathing in infants is not completely known.

What can be done for a baby considered at risk for SIDS?

In selected cases, the infant may be placed on a home apnea monitor—an alarm system connected by electrodes to the baby during sleep which signals if the heart rate or breathing falls below present levels. These monitors, however, are expensive and can add stress and tension in the home. False alarms may be common. More importantly, it has not been established if monitors save lives or prevent SIDS. Babies have died of SIDS on monitors. Some parents of a baby who's at risk for SIDS may feel more secure using a home monitor, however.

If a baby has suffered an episode of apnea, physicians will look for possible cause—such as a heart problem, a seizure, an infection—that can be treated to lower the risk of another episode. Unfortunately, SIDS remains an unsolved problem for which there is no known prevention.

Focus on Small Business

U.S. Small Business Administration

By Dorothy Overall
SBA, Biloxi

Q: Can you bring me up-to-date on a relatively new federal program to direct more research and development contracts to small firms?

A: The program, which began last year, is called the Small Business Innovation Research Program (SBIR).

Under that program, 11 big federal agencies must give more R&D work to small firms—about 20 percent more, according to estimates by the U.S. Small Business Administration, which supervises and monitors the program.

The Department of Energy was the first of the 11 agencies to announce 1983 R&D contract awards.

Energy funded 106 proposals (from more than 1,700 submitted) from small hi-tech firms in 31 states.

Each contract was worth about $50,000.

The other agencies—Defense, NASA, Health and Human Services, Education, National Science Foundation, Agriculture, Transportation, Environmental Protection Agency, Interior and Nuclear Regulatory Commission—will announce their awards in the next few months.

These agencies early in 1984 will announce R&D topics for the second year of bidding.

SBA will help publicize those announcements, so that any interested small firm can submit a proposal.

If you want to keep abreast of SBIR developments, write to SBIR, U.S. Small Business Administration, 1441 "L" Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20416.

MEC

State Treasurer Bill Cole and the chairman of the Mississippi Economic Council announced a joint business-government examination of the management of state money flowing through the office of the treasurer.

The examination is being made at the invitation of the treasurer.

MEC Chairman Charles Sewell, a Jackson mortgage company executive, said the Council is pleased to respond to Mr. Cole's request.

"Members of the council have the professional qualifications for assisting in the improved management of the State's money," said Sewell. "We are pleased that Mr. Cole has called on us, and we welcome the invitation to assist him."

Sewell commended the treasurer for his interest in improving the operations of his office.

"Mr. Cole has set an example for all other state officials," he said. "We commend him for his interest in improving the efficiency of state government."

Sewell also said the council would respond favorably to requests for business cooperation with any other state office or officeholder.

Cole has asked council members to examine operations of the treasurer's office in four areas—investment procedures, data processing, securities management, and cash management operations.

Sewell also announced that he has appointed James Carr, CPA and vice president and treasurer of Mississippi School Supply Company in Jackson, to head the MEC team. Carr is a former director and committee chairman for MEC.

Serving with Carr on the MEC team are John McCarty, Magee; Hugh Potts, Kosciusko; Ray Smith, Greenville; T. E. Walker, Forest; and Kearney Dossett, Robert Killelea, Roger Muns, Michael Summerford, and Michael Wilkinson, all of Jackson.

Operation History...

Communities across Mississippi are beginning to capitalize on their historical heritage. Many of these efforts have been recorded and recognized by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service "War on Ugliness" campaign. One of the most successful of these efforts has been "Operation History." Examples come from Hattiesburg, West Point, Ridgeland and Jackson. Hattiesburg residents have fixed up and painted residences along Bay Street near the 600 block as pictured here. These homes were built around the turn of the century and are marked by signs that show the date of construction. The area has been declared a historic site. In West Point, the downtown area has been listed as a national historical district. The Madison County Courthouse in Ridgeland is illuminated at night and work is underway to upgrade historical portions of the town square. A new Agriculture and Forestry Museum opened in Jackson last year and features thousands of pieces of historical equipment. All these separate "skirmishes" in the "War on Ugliness" are being conducted so that thousands of visitors passing through the state this year can see a more beautiful Mississippi.

Tests

amount of the lease until the soil borings are developed and appraisals are completed," the letter noted.

And Randolph told the trustees that permission to conduct soil borings would not commit the district to accepting a lease.

Cost of the soil boring tests will be the responsibility of the wastewater district.

In a matter held over from last month's meeting, several male patrons attended the trustees' meeting to clarify their concerns regarding the athletic program at Hancock North Central High School.

John W. Knight, noting that he is the parent of two HNC students, an HNC alumnus and 'not a politician,' said he didn't know how 'personalities got into it' in reports of last month's meeting. "Everything that was said that night got interpreted 180 degrees wrong," he said.

"I'm definitely not here to demote the school," he said.

"I'm tired of hearing people put it down. I don't want to knock it. I'm tired of hearing people knock academics and the athletics program."

But later he said HNC is 'the laughing joke of the state, I imagine.'

"I know we are on the Coast."

Reiterating complaints about the basketball program, Knight said he doesn't think the coaches are doing a good job with the potential at the school.

"We want to have something to brag about," he said.

"We want to have a better school athletically and academically."

Knight said he had talked to 'probably 50 parents' who have children involved with the athletic department, and that all of them have complaints.

"The basketball department is steadily going down," he asserted.

Although the discussion centered on athletics, not academics, Greg Shaw, another patron, inquired about the teacher evaluation process in the district, and Knight asked if low teacher salaries prevented the district from hiring good teachers.

Randolph said that teacher salaries are competitive with most other Gulf Coast school districts.

HNC Principal Donald Hillman explained that every teacher in the district is evaluated annually and said,

"The only trouble we have getting teachers is the same as everybody else's—math and science teachers—because we're in direct competition with private industry which pays much higher salaries."

Hillman, who also serves as the school district's athletic director, declined to comment on the criticism about the athletics program except to say that his office is open every day and that he has not received an undue number of complaints.

"We have come much farther than we had anticipated in the last few years in the academic area," Randolph said.

"We are working hard to try to upgrade the curriculum."

There are a number of good things to look forward to in academics in Mississippi, Randolph said.

"I think we're on the way."

In other business the trustees approved:

—Attendance by Randolph, Hillman and James Pair at administrative meetings in Jackson March 12-14;

—Travel reimbursement to S. Burton and Paula Guidin for expenses in connection with the recent math/science tournament at Mississippi College in Clinton;

—The resignation of Marie Fleming as bus driver;

—Employment of David Alan Spencer as substitute janitor at Hancock North Central, Penny K. Ladner and Dywan na Dedeaux at HNC Elementary and Lillian Dean at Gulfview Elementary as substitute teachers for the remainder of the school year, Frank J. Ladner as part-time janitor for HNC High School, and Mrs. Sharon Ladner as part-time work-study employee in the central office;

—Use of the football field on March 12 by First Southern Baptist Church in Pearlring;

—Field trips to New Orleans on March 12 and 19 for HNC's Foreign Language Club; and

A field trip by 70 seventh graders to New Orleans March 7 to visit historical points of interest.

Flotilla 35 offering safe boating classes

Flotilla 35, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Pass Christian invites the general boating public to attend its Safe Boating classes beginning March 13, at 7 p.m. at the Pass Christian Public Library.

A recent study by the BOAT/U.S. Marine Insurance Division of member accident and claim statistics indicates that Association members with advanced levels of boating education have significantly fewer and less severe losses than members with lower levels or no formal training.

In the study, insured members were broken down into four groups: U.S. Power Squadron and U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Advanced Training; U.S. Power Squadron and U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Basic Training; Other Training (which includes a wide range of private and public boating safety courses or military training); and No Training.

A five-year composite picture was drawn up of the four groups' loss experience. While the results are not surprising, the differences among the groups are dramatic; formal training results in a considerably better loss record, and the more advanced the training, the better the record.

GRAND OLE HUG—Minnie Pearl and Roy Acuff are among the stars to perform on "The Best of Live from the Grand Ole Opry" at 9 p.m., Saturday, March 10, on Mississippi Educational Television.

NEW OLE MISS BOOK

A new volume of historical essays entitled "Sex, Race and the Role of Women in the South" has been published by the University Press of Mississippi in the continuing series on the Chancellor's Symposium on Southern History at The University of Mississippi.

The new volume is a collection of papers presented at the eighth annual symposium on the Ole Miss campus in 1982. It features essays from six major women authors and scholars, edited by Dr. Joanne Hawks, director of the Sarah Isom Center for Women's Studies and assistant professor of history, and Dr. Sheila Skemp, assistant professor of history.

The collection assesses relationships of Southern women in a world complicated by racial and class antagonisms, according to Dr. Hawks.

Gandhi's descendant to speak

He is the grandson of the man who shattered British rule in India without an army, a man whose principle of non-violence guided the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. in his leadership of the civil rights movement in the American South.

Arun Gandhi is coming to Mississippi, where he will talk about the legacy of his famous grandfather, Mahatma Gandhi. He will speak Wednesday, March 14 at The University of Mississippi's Center for the Study of Southern Culture. The public is invited to the noon presentation, which is part of the brown bag lunch series, sponsored by the center.

Gandhi, 49, lives in Bombay, India, with his wife Sunanda. He was a journalist for 23 years with The Indian Times newspaper in Bombay. His 1983 book, "The Moraji Papers," a study of Indian politics, is on the best seller list in his home country.

He is in America to research the parallels between India's caste system and racial boundaries in the American South. He is lecturing at universities in Mississippi and Alabama and meeting with 1980s civil rights leaders.

Gandhi will be lecturing on the life and contributions of his grandfather, apartheid in South Africa, the caste system in India, parallels between the struggles for civil rights in India and the American South, and on non-violence and social change.

While Gandhi is not as ascetic like this grandfather, he tries to emulate him in many ways, said Mrs. Robert Morrison of Vicksburg, who is coordinating Gandhi's 10-day, two-state lecture swing. She said Gandhi and his wife are both actively involved in work to ease the plight of the harrisons, or untouchables, a cause close to the heart of Mahatma Gandhi.

Pioneers hosting Biloxi anti-drug, alcohol conference

A Kids Against Drugs conference is being planned by the Gulf Coast Council of the Telephone Pioneers of America as part of a statewide project sponsored by the Mississippi Chapter of Telephone Pioneers.

"It is time the young people of Mississippi learned the facts about alcohol and drugs from the experts. Kids Against Drugs, is just that...a fact-finding conference by kids and interested adults," says Sybil Allen of Gulfport, pioneer project chairman.

The two-day conference, scheduled for April 25 and 26 at the Coast Coliseum and Convention Center in Biloxi will provide approximately 4,000 youths in grades seven through 12 from Jackson, Harrison, Hancock, and South Pearl River counties with information they need to make responsible decisions about drug abuse and alcohol abuse," Allen says.

"This is a most demanding and most rewarding undertaking," reports Allen. "We are not experts on drug abuse, but we have the organization to get the experts here to talk to these kids and their parents."

The Pioneers are a non-profit organization made up of telephone industry employees who are active in community involvement projects.

The pioneers work in 1984 will concentrate on the drug and alcohol abuse problems, she notes.

"Kids suffer through the living nightmare of drug abuse if we cannot get the proper information into their hands," says Allen. "We are hoping to use peer pressure to stop drug abuse just like peer pressure often encourages drug abuse now."

"Education and prevention are the keys to beating the substance abuse problem. Today's kids are tomorrow's leaders, and that will cost everyone money in terms of absenteeism, loss of productivity and improper use of company benefits," she states.

"Current information on various drugs including cocaine, marijuana, and alcohol will be discussed. And, most important, the conference will offer young people positive alternatives and ideas for becoming involved in helping curb the drug culture in their own schools, clubs, and communities," Allen explains.

The meetings, which are tentatively planned for 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on both April 25 and 26, include several nationally known speakers and a multimedia presentation, she says.

Paul Love, Gulf Coast Pioneer Council president, states, "If the success of this project depends on effort, then there is no doubt for its success. It is our firm intention to make this conference the best ever for the benefit of our young people here on the Coast."

For additional information on the upcoming conference call 388-9935 or contact a pioneer in your neighborhood.

Known for their untiring efforts in community work, the Telephone Pioneers of America are employees with 18 or more years of service in the industry and is the largest social-industrial organization in the country with 588,832 members nationwide including two other branches.

The Future Pioneers, those in the industry with less than 18 years of service, most noted for their clown troupe. This group participates in community parades and regularly visits hospitals and homes for the elderly as well as special schools for handicapped youngsters.

The Life Members, retired members of the industry, have for years built special electronic toys and equipment for handicapped training centers.

GCJC to fight for funding

Gulf Coast Junior College will continue its fight for legislation that would change the method now used to fund part-time students attending the state's 15 public two-year schools.

That is the decision of GCJC's Board of Trustees, which has unanimously agreed that two bills now pending in the Legislature offer the best hope for solving a problem that has plagued the school for several years.

Trustee Murrell Hilton, chairman of the board's legislative committee, said college officials are 'weary of doing battle' with the Mississippi Junior College President's Association, which opposes Gulf Coast's efforts to have the funding formula mandated into law.

"All we are trying to do," said Hilton, "is to secure equitable funding for every student attending the junior colleges in this state."

Under the current formula, junior colleges receive from the state only about $400 for a full-time equivalent student.

"An FTE is a composite of part-timers who together generate 24 student credit hours," Hilton explained.

"But a full-time student, one who is taking 12 or more semester hours during the year, brings in $1,538. This is inequity at its worst," Hilton added.

He said, "A majority of the junior college presidents agree that changes are needed. And the association offered a compromise plan that is basically the same as one we proposed a year ago. It calls for funding on a student credit hour basis."

But Hilton said association members "don't want the plan to become state law."

"Every time we argue this point with them, we come away with our heads bloodied."

To finance the plan, the state would have to appropriate about $3.7 million in new money to be used during the three-year implementation period.

"Gulf Coast wants the plan on the books, regardless of what the Legislature does about the money. The association doesn't," Hilton said.

In an effort to strengthen its case with state lawmakers, GCJC officials have recently testified before Senate and House appropriations subcommittees.

"We believe both committees understand our problem. They have been receptive to our proposals and we have reason to believe they will make recommendations in our favor," Hilton said.

MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY SKATE-A-THON—Some 40 youngsters participated in the recent Muscular Dystrophy Skate-a-Thon sponsored by Bay High School's DECA chapter,

Skaters raise $1,100

By NAN P. EHRBRIGHT
Last week's Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Skate-a-Thon at Twin Pines Skating Rink in Bay St. Louis raised some $1,100 for the muscular dystrophy cause.

The event, held Thursday from 5 to 9 p.m., was jointly sponsored by the skating rink, Domino's Pizza and Bay High School's chapter of Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA).

Cups and 7-Up, provided free to the skaters, were donated by Gulf Coast Coca-

Cola Bottling Co.

DECA adviser Peggy Webb estimated that some 40 youngsters participated in the skate-a-thon and collected cash donations from sponsoring businesses or individuals.

This is, Webb said, the first year that DECA has sponsored this particular event. It was chosen as the club's 'civic consciousness' project, she said.

Chapter member Jeannette Launey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Launey of Waveland, will write up the project as her entry for the state DECA awards, to be presented in March at the state DECA conference in Jackson.

USM to tutor reading

The University of Southern Mississippi at Gulf Park will offer tutoring for children in grades two through eight with reading difficulties, Dr. Nancy Maszta, the Gulf Park Reading Center director, said recently.

"The one-to-one evaluation and tutoring promotes positive attitudes toward reading and enhances students' self-concepts," Dr. Maszta said.

"Undergraduate and graduate students in the Department of Curriculum and Instruction at Gulf Park will serve as instructors to the children."

The lessons will be taught twice a week after school, beginning the week of March 19.

The bi-weekly sessions are 50 minutes each. Total cost for all sessions is $40.

For additional information about the classes, or to enroll a child in this session, contact Dr. Maszta at 865-4547.

Conservation workshop announced

Educators in Mississippi interested in studying the environment will have an unusual opportunity to do so this summer at no cost to individual teachers unless they attend for graduate credit.

The 21st annual Teachers Conservation Workshop will be held June 17-22 at Gulf Coast Junior College in Perkinston.

The workshop is sponsored by the Mississippi Forestry Association, Inc. in cooperation with the State Department of Education, Mississippi State University and the University of Southern Mississippi.

Participants may earn three hours of graduate credit through the Division of Continuing Education at either MSU or USM. The tuition fee is payable to MSU or USM upon acceptance to the workshop. No undergraduate credit is available.

Lodging, meals and other expenses are paid for by industrial and business firms who are members of MFA.

Educators wishing to attend the workshop should contact Mississippi Forestry Association, 620 North State Street, Jackson 39202.

Registration is available to teachers and administrators of grades 1-12. Deadline for receiving applications is May 31.

Time at the week-long workshop will be almost equally divided between classroom sessions led by authorities from industry and education and field trips to see firsthand some of the information gained in the classroom.

Subject areas range from the environment, forest management and utilization of wood products to game management and studies of soil, water and minerals.

Some 15 different areas of study related to conservation education will be covered, providing teachers with materials to take back to their classes in the fall for teaching a unit on conservation education.

Instructors will include conservationists with state and federal government agencies, industrial foresters and faculty members from various colleges and universities in the state.

MARDI GRAS WINNER—Bay-Waveland Yacht Club's Olympic hopefuls Dennis and Rod Stieffel and Randy Santa Cruz captured the Mardi Gras Pre-Olympic Regatta in New Orleans Saturday and Sunday. The Mardi Gras title is the third straight victory for the crew in their quest of an Olympic Gold Medal in the Soling US-760 'Spirit of Bay St. Louis' shown here under full sail on Lake Ponchartraine.

Bay Soling sailors capture third title

The Bay St. Louis sailing team of Dennis Stieffel, Randy Santa Cruz and Rod Stieffel won their third straight Soling event last weekend in a Campaign for a place on the U.S. Olympic Sailing Team.

The trio's quest for a Gold Medal will culminate in the 1984 Summer Olympic Games to be held in the United States at Alamos Bay Yacht Club in Long Beach, Calif.

The Mardi Gras Pre-Olympic Regatta was held in New Orleans on Lake Ponchartraine sponsored by the Olympic Sailing Association of Southern Yacht Club with assistance and cooperation from New Orleans Yacht Club, Southern Yacht Club and Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

The event was sailed under the same rules and regulations that will be in effect at the U.S. Olympic Sailing Trials.

Five races were sailed with a provision for one throw-out race.

Each team was allowed to throw-out their worst race and four races were actually counted for scoring purposes.

The low point Olympic scoring system was used.

Winds throughout the series varied from 3 to 23 knots.

The Stieffel-Santa Cruz-Stieffel team from Bay-Waveland Yacht Club sailing Soling US-760, "Spirit of Bay St. Louis" earned finishes of 2-1-1-1-1 for a total of 0 points after throwing out their worst finish.

The team of Keys-Botz-Stodola from New Rochelle, N.Y. placed second with finishes of 4-5-4-2-2 and a total of 22 points.

In third place was the team of George Francisco, Beau LeBlanc and Greg Sonnier from Houston, Tex. with finishes of 1-4-2-WD (withdraws)-WD and a total of 24 points.

The Milby-Conway-Milby team was fourth with finishes of 5-2-5-3-3 and 24.4 points.

Fifth was Ibs, K. Williams and J. Williams with finishes of 3-3-3-4-4 and 25.1 points.

In sixth place was the team of Avery-George-Singleton with finishes of 6-6-6-WD-5 with 45.1 points. There was a total of six teams competing in the five race series.

Following this 3rd Soling victory for the BWYC Team since they began their Campaign, their next official test will be in St. Petersburg March 25-30 in the U.S. Soling Championship Regatta where 20 boats or teams will qualify for the U.S. Olympic Sailing Trials May 12-25.

The helmsman of the "Spirit of Bay St. Louis" Dennis Stieffel, says, he is "very pleased with the progress of the team to this point."

"Our team work is good and we are really perfecting our boat speed and equipment at a good competitive level," he said.

According to Stieffel, the competition will be keen in St. Petersburg.

"But the team feels real good about qualifying for the Trials and doing well in the Regatta," he added.

Following the U.S. Soling Championship in St. Petersburg, the team plans to go to San Francisco for West Coast Soling Championship April 13, 14 and 15 where 10 more boats or teams will qualify for the Trials.

The team then plans to move to Long Beach, Calif. to prepare for the U.S. Olympic Sailing Trials scheduled in May.

The BWYC Team continues to seek contributions to their Campaign effort to help with travel, lodging and other necessary Campaign expenses.

Tax deductible contributions may be made to the team by making check payable to the tax exempt Olympic Sailing Association of Southern Yacht Club.

Direct non-tax deductible contributions may be made to the 1984 Olympic Sailing Campaign Fund.

All checks may be mailed to P.O. Drawer 231, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

Louisiana schedules pink shrimp season

The Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries has announced that a special experimental trawling season to allow fishermen to harvest pink shrimp (Hoppers) in certain areas of Chandeleur and Breton Sounds was approved recently by the Louisiana

Wildlife and Fisheries Commission at its regular monthly public meeting in New Orleans.

The commission gave the secretary of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries the authority to open the season anytime within a framework from sunset, Monday, March 12, through sunrise Friday, April 27, whenever biological data indicates pink shrimp are commercially abundant.

Jesse J. Guidry, department secretary, said at least 27 hours advance notice will be given before season is opened. He stressed that the season is experimental and will be closed immediately if biological data indicates that pink shrimp are no longer abundant in commercially harvestable numbers, if it is determined that trawling for pink shrimp is interfering with brown shrimp migration or if enforcement problems develop.

In addition to giving fishermen the opportunity to harvest another renewable resource, the experimental season is designed to gather information on these shrimp which migrate yearly through coastal waters. A permit and reporting system has been set up to compile this necessary data.

Any fisherman properly licensed for shrimping in Louisiana waters can apply for a permit. All permittees will be required to report their catch to the department at the end of the experimental season.

Permits can be obtained from the department's Seafood Division Office, 400 Royal Street, New Orleans, LA 70130, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

beginning March 5.

Fishermen will be allowed to use one or two trawls of not more than fifty feet each and one try trawl of sixteen feet or less.

Twin trawls (two on each side of the boat) are not allowed. All Louisiana laws governing regular seasons will apply to the special season. This includes the 68-count size limit.

The portion of Chandeleur and Breton Sounds open for trawling is bordered generally on the north by a line running southeast from Isle Au Pitre to the North Light of Chandeleur Island; on the east from North Light southerly to North Islands, along the northwest shore of North Islands to Free

Mason Island, southward to Curlew Island, southwest to North Point at Breton Islands, to West Point of Breton Islands and southwest to the most northerly point on the south side of Taylor Pass; on the south by a line from this point to a horizontal tank battery in the vicinity of Battledore Reef and east of Little Battledore Island and on the west by a line from the tank battery to the Mississippi River-Gulf Outlet Channel at a lighted privately-maintained marker known as "47" and "48", to Point Chicot Light, to Point Comfort, to the easternmost point of Mitchell Island, to the easternmost point of Martin Island, to the easternmost point of Brush Island, to Door Point and back to the east end of Isle Au Pitre.

The area open is only the open waters of the sounds and does not include any marsh or shallow areas near the Chandeleur Islands or Louisiana Marsh. A detailed description and map of the area can be obtained with the permit.

Guidry emphasized that enforcement would be strict and urged fishermen to comply with boundary and trawl restrictions, count laws and permit and catch declaration regulation.

For information contact McFadden Duffy at (504) 342-1085.

Meanwhile at Picaune Knights of Columbus had a tough game against a combined under 14/19 team, but managed a 2-2 tie due in part to good defense by Henry Nixon. 9:30 a.m. Knights of Columbus (3-0-1) vs. Bay-Waveland Tire (1-3-0)

In girls action Sports World started its game against Ocean Springs with only ten players and fell behind 2-0.

But the Red Raiders played extremely well and were in the game until the last 15 minutes due to the exceptional play of goalkeeper Missy Duncan.

Finally Ocean Springs wore down the Red Raiders, many of whom were playing in unfamiliar positions and all playing without substitutes, to earn a shutout with Terry Wade scoring four goals for the visitors.

This weekend finds Sports World (2-2-0) at Gaudier against Singing River and then at Milner Stadium against Vicksburg. At home Black Tornadoes host Gulfport at 2 p.m. while The Sea Coast Echo hosts Ocean Springs at the same time. Dillmann Knights plays on Sunday at 2:30 p.m., hosting Ocean Springs. Next Tuesday evening the board of BAYS will hold its regularly scheduled meeting at Main Street United Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m.

BAYS will host the Under 8 District Tournament on April 7, 14 and 15 and needs volunteers. Also, anyone who would like to serve on the board next year should contact Tom Damboki.

Powerlifters set seven records in Mississippi Invitational here

The 17th annual Mississippi Invitational Powerlifting Championships were considered a great success with lifters from seven states participating.

A strong spectator gallery was present all day.

Eight drug-free American records were set.

Three were made by Vinson Keyhea of Gulfport.

Keyhea trains at Rhodes Fitness Center.

Two were set by Rev. Lanny Shepard of Enterprise, Ala.

National champion Ray Kobetz from Louisiana set two new records, and Lorenzo Barrett from Washington, D.C. set a new bench press record.

For the past two years the Mississippi Invitational Powerlifting Championships, have been sanctioned by the newly formed American Drug Free Powerlifting Association.

The purpose of this organization is to monitor the use of steroids or other strength-inducing drugs which give lifters certain advantages.

The aim of the ADFPA is to restore honesty and fairness in the sport of powerlifting.

According to International Powerlifting Federation rules all lifts are measured in kilos.

To convert kilos to pounds multiply by 2.2.

Another way is to double the total and take ten percent of that.

Example: 100 kilos—double 100 equals 200—10%—add 20 to the 200 and you have 220 lbs.

Donations made to the Mississippi Invitational by local sponsors and others were given to the Right-to-Life movement and the ADFPA.

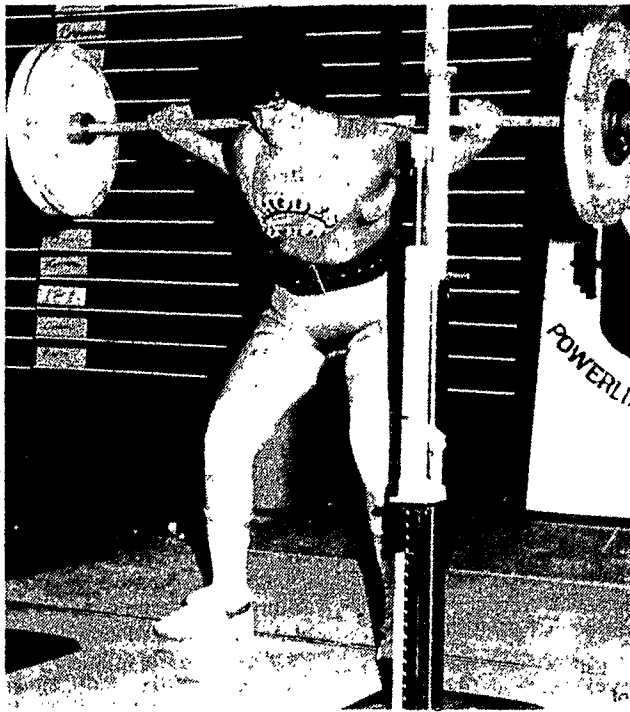

EDDIE FRILOUX, a junior at Stanislaus, at a body weight of 99 pounds placed second in the 114 class. Friloux deadlifted 242 pounds and totaled 584 pounds.

RAYMOND KOBETS, A 181-pounder from Baton Rouge, La., lifts 722 pounds for a new American record. Kobetz also set a total record of 1,730 pounds in the 181 class.

VINSON KEYHEA of Gulfport set three new American records. Lifting in the 198 class, Keyhea deadlifted 766 pounds and totaled 1,879 pounds.

AMY HILLE, senior at University of Southern Mississippi and native of Bay St. Louis, won the women's division of the Mississippi Invitational with a total of 865 pounds. Here Hille squats 308 pounds.

YOUR HEALTH

Someone remarked the other day that he didn't know Chiropractic care could do anything for headaches. Similar remarks may be heard from time to time concerning other conditions of the body. Even patients, upon recovery from one ailment through Chiropractic, are sometimes unaware that adjustments also can correct the cause of Nerve Interference which creates other illnesses and conditions! The point is that Chiropractic care is not really limited to correcting backaches as most people think, but is an all around health service. Doctors of Chiropractic realize there are conditions necessitating surgery and will not hesitate to recommend these services when they deem it necessary. In fact, your doctor of Chiropractic would not accept your case if he didn't feel it would be the best all around approach to your problem.

Wildcat nine best in season's first 7

Pearl River College swept a pair of baseball games from Co-Lin Friday and a pair from Utica Saturday to up its record to a sparkling 7-0 mark.

On Friday the Wildcats defeated the Co-Lin Wolves 7-3 in the opener and took the nightcap 10-0. Against Utica the 'Cats won 4-2 and 11-3. All games were played on the Wildcat diamond.

The Wildcats are off to a quick 7-0 start, pleasing coach Ned Eades. "Our pitchers are throwing strikes and we are playing good defense," Eades said.

"Our depth is also coming through for us. We have played a lot of different people, our pre-season (10 games) really helped us."

In the opener Friday, Glenn Linton (1-0) pitched five innings for the Wildcats and Scott Stanley worked the final two frames. The key blow for the winners was a grand slam homer in the third by Kyle Wiley.

Jim Murphy added a run-scoring triple and Mark Lyles and Brady Webb a double each for PRC.

In the nightcap, southpaw Tracy Stiglets, twirled a non-hit shutout, striking out three and walking only two in recording his first win of the young season.

The Wildcats struck for nine hits, including a double and a home run by Mike Summers, a three-run homer by Murphy and a double by Willie Perry. Against Utica, Harvey Simmons and Jim Spugnardi moved their records to 2-0 with wins over the Bulldogs. In the first game Tony Scott and Brady Webb hit doubles and Travis Bourgeois collected two hits.

In the nightcap against Utica Jim Murphy hit a home run, Richard Ellis a double and Mark Lowery a triple.

Next week the Wildcats will play 18 games at home during eight days of spring holidays. Saturday the Wildcats will play a triple header against Wisconsin Stout. The games start at 10 a.m. Sunday the 'Cats and Wisconsin will have a doubleheader and then on Monday and Tuesday are tripleheaders.

Jackson State Community College from Tennessee will be on hand for doubleheaders Wednesday and Thursday and Lincoln Land Junior College will furnish the doubleheader competition Friday and Saturday. Doubleheaders start at 1 p.m.

TENNIS LESSONS

Group tennis lessons for beginner, intermediate and advanced players will be held at the University of New Orleans starting March 12. Lessons will be held once a week for ten weeks, Monday through Thursday evenings in two time periods, 7-7:30 p.m. or 7:30-9 p.m. All lessons are held at the UNO East Campus Tennis Courts.

Private and semi-private lessons can also be arranged. For information call the UNO department of recreation and intramural sports, 504-288-6357.

Eagles in Metro Tourney

Southern Mississippi's Golden Eagles will open play in the Metro Conference tournament at 9 p.m. Thursday in a battle against the Memphis State Tigers in the Mid-South Coliseum in Memphis, Tenn.

The Eagles, who posted a 13-14 overall record and a 4-10 mark in league play, are seeded seventh in the tourney, while the Tigers, who finished 21-6 overall and 11-3 in the league, are seeded second.

Other first round pairings for Thursday have Louisville (No. 1 seed) vs. Cincinnati (No. 8) at noon; Tulane (No. 5) vs. Virginia Tech (No. 4) at 2 p.m.; and South Carolina (No. 6) vs. Florida State (No. 3) at 7 p.m.

This will be the third meeting of the season between USM and Memphis State. The Tigers beat the Eagles 52-47 in Memphis Jan. 14 and then squeezed past them 69-67 in overtime at Hattiesburg Feb. 20.

The Eagles will be led by all-Metro Conference candidate Curtis Green, who hails from Memphis. Green led USM in scoring all season long and finished with a 18.2 average. He was also the team leader in assists (87), steals (45) and minutes played (971).

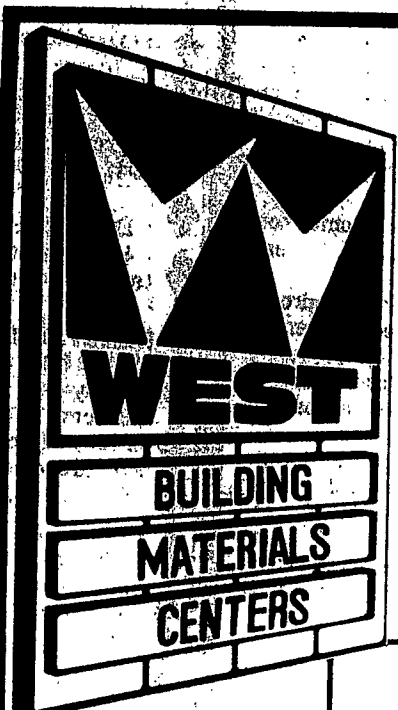

The speedy point guard could become USM's all-time assists leader in Thursday night's game. He currently has 381 in his career and needs five to break the mark currently held by Kenny Smith (1976-80). Green is also the school's sixth all-time leading scorer with 1,501 points.

Joining Green in USM's probable starting lineup will be 6-6 junior James Williams and 6-6 senior Ken Suttles at the forwards; 6-9 freshman Eddie Pope at center and 6-6 sophomore Michael Jett or 6-5 freshman Kenny Siler at the other guard spot.

Tennis slated at UNO

The Four Seasons Winter Tennis Tournament will be held by the University of New Orleans department of recreation and intramural sports March 16-18 at the tennis courts (East Campus).

Entry fee is $10.00 for 12 doubles, with prizes totaling $1,000.00. The tournament will be held March 16 at 10 a.m. and March 17 at 9 a.m. For information call the UNO department of recreation and intramural sports, 504-288-6357.
